"Second Chance Season" is a story of loss, redemption and basketball, the film follows 17-year-old Nick Young and his family through a pivotal year in their lives. One of the nation's top college ...Second Chance Season explores the long-term, residual effects a senseless killing can have on a single family. This compelling documentary recounts one family's desperate attempt to triumph over tragedy by placing all of its hopes in the basketball aspirations of its youngest son. Last Wednesday, I caught ESPN2's airing of Second Chance Season, the documentary about Nick Young. I won't go so far as to say the film was absolutely captivating, but certainly well worth watching. Tonight at 10:30pm (EST), ESPN2 and ESPN2 HD will be airing "Second Chance Season", a documentary about Nick Young's triumph over tragedy through the game of basketball.
