The style of The Great Gatsby is wry, sophisticated, and elegiac, employing extended metaphors, figurative imagery, and poetic language to create a sense of nostalgia and loss. In chapter four of The Great Gatsby Jordan tells Nick that: Gatsby bought that house so that Daisy would be just across the bay. Nick then writes: In The Great Gatsby, Fitzgerald offers up commentary on a variety of themes -- justice, power, greed, betrayal, the American dream, and so on. Of all the themes, perhaps none is more well developed than that of social stratification.
